It's just a shower, isn't it?

You could say that. Or you could say it's a Samuel Heath 'Fairfield' shower. You could point out that it's been meticulously formed from the purest European brass; then hand polished and chrome-plated in up to 34 individual processes. You could say it's manufactured entirely in the UK and it's passed over 500 hours of salt spray and humidity testing. You could say it'll last a lifetime. Or, of course, you could insist that it's just a shower.
