Scavolini

June 18, 2010

Spatial freedom is part of the inspiration behind Scavolini's Tetrix kitchen, designed by Michael Young. By using a series of 14-in. x 23-in. rectangular modules, the system offers flexibility to expand and embrace a variety of configurations. Every kitchen can have a custom look by arranging the modules to suit individual preferences. The doors of the wall units, bases and tall units can be grouped together in blocks of contrasting colors or in horizontal layers of varied hues.
